"The Dark and Stubborn Winter Dies"

TIM BROOKS STARS IN "HIS FIRST SHAVE."

Broadway Hits Bethel

It was Saturday, February 18, 1961; the hour 8 p. m. Behind the closed curtains and the glimmering footlights, the members of the stage crew were industriously putting things in readiness for the soon to be presented Three One - Act Plays. The seats in the house, the William Bingham Gymnasium, had gradually been filled. Following the playing of "Windjammer" by the band, the curtains opened, and the evening was under way.

The first presentation of the evening was "His First Shave," which took place in the kitchen of the Morton home where Mr. Morton (Gary Hill) was teaching his son Derek (Tim Brooks) the technique of shaving. Mrs. Morton (Sharon York) referred the shenanigans of Derek and his "brat" sister Clara (Sharon Cole), who insisted on calling him "Peaches" since his beard consisted of only peach fuzz. Derek's date, Janet (Jane Allen), called by, but Derek did not extricate himself from his shaving apparatus in time to take her to the movies. Thus ends the tragedy of the newly discovered teen-age "man."

The second production, "Box and Cox," was set in a room in a London apartment house owned by Mrs. Bouncer (Cheryl Douglass). Mrs. Bouncer rented this one room by day to Box (Dick Moody), a printer, and by night to Cox (Stanley Howe), a hatter—both without the other's knowledge. Never did Mrs. Bouncer suspect that the two should ever meet, but — lo and behold — one day Mr. Cox was given a holiday by his employer and returned to his room where he found Mr. Box. The two men finally resolved to put up with each other at least until Mrs. Bouncer could get another room ready for one of them. In the following conversation both men found that they had a lady friend, Penelope Anne, in common. Each one tried to brush her off onto the other; however, both succeeded in getting rid of her since she eloped with someone else. Box and Cox both agreed to forget her and to continue living at Mrs. Bouncer's.

The third and last drama of the evening was "Truth Is for the Birds." The setting was the dining room of the Bird apartment where Bitsy Bird (Gloria Williams) succeeded in making her life miserable by being too frank with her friends, Honeybun (Carol Wilson) and Flutter (Coleen Bean) and her husband, Bill (Walter Grover).

Mrs. Partridge (Carol Young), the sour-faced landlady, sat in on the whole ordeal and added her subtle comments every now and then. In revealing the truth about Bill's speech for better sewers in Plunkhasset, Flutter's heavy, lopsided cake, and Honeybun's wonder child Marvin, Bitsy told everyone just what they didn't want to be told; therefore, they all left in a hurry. Bill returned with a change but not necessarily an improvement in his speech, and it could be seen that Bitsy had learned her lesson because she refrained from telling him exactly what she thought about the speech.

Much credit for the evening's entertainment goes to Mr. Vogt, the director, who used a great deal of time and energy in order to get the plays ready for presentation. Also to be thanked for their efforts are the properties' manager, Deborah Hammond; the stage manager, Reilly, with his crew of stage hands; the make-up artists, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Jacobs and Mr. Roderick; and the band which supplied music for the intermissions.

Another evening gone by — another memory to store away — another presentation of Broadway in Bethel.

WHAT'S IN THE LIBRARY

Thanks to Miss Boyce, all obsolete reading matter has been discarded and improvements in the library take place almost daily.

Even though most Gould students visit the library frequently, some might not be aware of the new additions.

College folders and occupational guides are available not only to Seniors but also to underclassmen who are wisely planning ahead. Of special interest to the boys will be the pamphlets dealing with the armed forces.

An inspiration for those who are bogged down at the thought of extra projects might be the new set of Science and Technology Encyclopedias which have been added for reference material.

Book reports are due shortly and several new books have arrived just in time. Under fiction are "Exodus"—Leon Uris and "The Lovely Ambition"—Mary Ellen Chase. Recently shelved under non-fiction is "Where Else But Alaska"—Machetanz. The biography of Edward Sheldon entitled "The Man Who Lived Twice"—Eric Wollencott Barnes, is also new.

For those who find themselves with an extra few minutes and wish to browse, the magazines range from The American Home to Northeastern Logger: Books too large to be shelved on Arts and Crafts, Debating, Science and Religion, can be found on the bookcase behind the desk.

Harmony Reigns

Topping off a half year's hard but rewarding work, the Gould Academy Band under the direction of Mr. James Owen and the Gorham High School Band under the direction of Mr. Edward D'Amico presented two exchange concerts. The first of these, presented on February 4th, was held in the Gorham High School Gymnasium. There, following a three hour rehearsal of the two bands in the afternoon, the members of the Gould Band were served a baked bean supper prepared by the cafeteria workers. From then until the concert began at 8 P. M., it was free time for everyone.

The very next week, on February 11th, the Gorham Band ventured to the Gould Campus to return this well prepared and enjoyable concert. This retake took place in the William Bingham Gymnasium following the same schedule of the previous week. The Gorham Band members ate supper in the Gould dining hall. At 8 P. M. the concert began. Although the audience was small, everyone seemed to enjoy the performance. Following the concert there was a brief dance held for the student body and the Gorham Band.

The program at both concerts were as follows:

Gorham Band
Deep River Playhar
Southwestern Panorama

Beguine for Band Eymann
Gould Band
Amparito Roca Texidor

"The Totem Pole March," lively and sounding like an Indian dance, "The Beguine Festival," filled with colorful tropical sounds, "Amparito Roca," much the same as "The Beguine," and "Windjammer," a shorter edition of the popular album, were the favorites of nearly all the band members and played with great enthusiasm.

Much credit is due to Mr. Owen, who worked tirelessly with the band for many months in order to present such a fine concert, as well as to the members themselves for doing such a fine job.

Mr. Vachon, in speaking for the faculty and student body, said this was a very fine concert. It is undoubtedly true, then, that success follows hard and faithful work.

GOINGS - ON

If anyone had been near the skating rink on January 6, one of the month's warmer nights, he would have seen chains of students whipping around the ice, others practicing fancy twirls, couples attempting to dance to the music being played or a few non-skaters sitting along the rink's edge socializing. A small distance from the ice was a bonfire offering chilled feet warmth, and cocoa was served to the tired. The Girls Athletic Association was responsible for making the Friday night a pleasant one.

Did you know that a red flag floating on top of the water means "Beware! A skin diver is beneath?" This and many other facts connected with the sport or profession of skin diving were made clear on January 13, when Mr. Philip Betzold came to Gould and gave an tory, and Man and His Environment will want to check on the paperback books standing on the middle table.

We owe Miss Boyce a "Thank You" for our convenient, up-to-date library!

assembly entitled Deep Sea Life. Instead of simply talking to us on this subject, Mr. Betzold brought many different species of fish which either he or his father had caught. The climax to the show was his displaying an octopus which did not look very friendly even though it was dripping of formaldehyde. Equipped with a good sense of humor, Mr. Betzold made the experience of encountering a baracuda face to face sound humorous.

The password on January 23, was bells, for on this day pictures were taken for the Herald. Changing from school clothes to band uniforms, to gym suits, to ski clothes seems like a great chore to accomplish in an hour but many proved it could be done. Teachers gave up trying to conduct classes with students running in and out. But think of Mr. White, the photographer. Doesn't he ever tire of saying, "Let's have a nice big smile for this one"? Although it was nice to escape a few classes, I think everyone was tired of hearing bells and would agree that having pictures taken once a year was sufficient.

LOUISE LINCOLN

The Blue and Gold current-ly spotlights Louise Lincoln, an outstanding Gould student and citizen. The Lincolns moved to Bethel from Pittsfield, Maine, six years ago, contributing pert, energetic Louise to the class of 1961.

Louise has turned her energy and enthusiasm to many extra-curricular activities, while maintaining a good scholastic average. Her ability is recognized by the faculty and student body through her election to the office of secretary and student council representative in her sophomore and junior years at Gould and her membership in the National Honor Society. Louise is presently vice-president of the Future Homemakers of America, which displays a domestic bent!

The field of sports holds "Weezie's" main interest, skiing and basketball numbering among her favorites. The Girls' Athletic Association counts Louise one of its key members, and she is a four-year participant in the activities of the Outing Club.

Louise's plans for the future are very tentative, although she has been accepted of admission at Burdette Junior College, which offers business courses. Modesty in her accomplishments and a friendly, obliging attitude in her social contacts should insure the success in the future that Weezie has enjoyed in the past.

BOOK REVIEW

In "The Bell on Lonely" by Margaret Page Hood, one will find a short and exciting mystery which concerns the haunted Lonely Island, a death and the ringing of a bell. All these events take place on the Coast of Maine.

The man who is murdered is Dave Brackett, who, with his wife, Lucy, and their seventeen year old son, Ted, who is mentally retarded, lives on Lonely Island, which has a long history of unfortunate deaths. When a deputy arrives to discover the true cause of the death, he is confronted with more than the usual amount of suspects. There is Dave's wife, Lucy, who had been very upset because Dave had threatened to send their son to an institution on the very day of his death! Their son, Ted, had terrible fits and felt that his father had rejected him. The third member of Dave's household was Nancy, the daughter of Lucy's sister Laura, who had been killed with her husband. Dave saw in Nancy the image of her mother whom he had loved and by whom he had been rejected. Because of this he editorials.

"Are Teachers Really Human?" This question was answered in an editorial in the "Pinto Patter," the paper of Mexico High School. It ended with the following paragraph, "Yes, teachers are nerve-wracking nuisances, just task masters to be endured, but when commencement is over and it's time to face the world, we are thankful so much for the knowledge and understanding of the most influential and dedicated people in the world, teachers."

RICHARD YORK

"And now a word from Captain York" was all that had to be said at pep rallies this fall. The reaction of the team and whole student body was enough to let an outsider know that there was a pretty popular man heading the football squad of 1960.

His love for sports and good sportsmanship has made Richard most famous on campus for his accomplishments in football, basketball, and baseball. In football, his favorite sport, he was the only sophomore two years ago to earn his letter, and has been a letterman in basketball and baseball since his junior year.

During his four years at Gould, Richard has obtained above average grades and was elected treasurer of his class last year.

Judging from Richard's accomplishments thus far at Gould, it seems obvious that the thing he enjoys most is sports, but among his other "loves" are strawberry shortcake, broiled chicken, parties, sitting quietly at home watching football games on T. V. and a particular executive on the staff of this paper.

A very early memory of his is standing in the doorway of his home in Bethel watching his older brothers and sister leave for school—"And you know I couldn't wait for the day I'd be going with them!" he said, smiling.

Richard has a quiet charm and easy going manner linked by a great deal of drive and ambition, things which contribute to his popularity among Gouldites. Although he's uncertain of the future, he will inevitably find his niche and proceed to give and obtain the best in life.

had never let Nancy leave the island. She had been plotting her escape with Joe Winslow, who had previously been in a fight with Dave, on the night of his murder. Others included Charley, an old clam digger whose dog was killed by Dave, and Sal, a middle-aged widow who had been rejected by Dave after their affair. The end, both unusual and different, makes a fitting climax to a book which is light, fast-moving and enjoyable to read.

Choices

Every day and many times a day all of us are confronted with the problem of making choices. On the basis of our choices we experience success or failure. Choosing is a great personal privilege. You may choose to think things through or to obey impulse; to follow the crowd or to follow your own principles; to do things that bring joy and happiness in the long run or to do those things which bring sorrow in the years to come. You may choose what you plan to accomplish in life and make plans on how you propose to achieve it. To a surprising degree you may even choose the health you will enjoy, the wealth you will acquire, and the happiness which will be yours. Choose and choose wisely,—and remember that your choices will effect your life.

CAMERA CLUB

The Camera Club has just begun a course in box camera photography, a basic course in simple photography. A few of those taking this course are Dave Hawkes, Brian Scothorne, Don Parker, Melanie Bernier, Freda Bennet, and Sheila Roberts.

Glen Whitehouse was responsible for the pictures of the ski team and the New Englanders.

Mr. Jacobs and Glen will be taking pictures of the five queen candidates — Sally Burns, Freda Gammon, Louise Lincoln, Donna Rice, and Anne Ordway, in order to have double coverage.

The Club is holding its regular meetings every other week, and Glen has had many pictures published by newspapers.

Someone

He had waited a long time for this moment, but now it was as if a door had been slammed shut in his face and someone else held the key. His name was Scott Barrows, a Negro boy from Atlanta, Georgia. His case was an unusual one, his purpose universal. For the past two years he had been used as a "guinea pig" by a secret Negro organization to test the validity and fairness of the Georgia state laws concerning segregated education. One might call him a sort of modern day Dred Scott whose purpose it was to help erase the bigoted views of some Southerners. He had accepted the organization's offer of a college education, paid for by his numerous appearances for them in state and federal courts. Things had gone remarkably well for him. Several times during the past year the Georgia Legislature had passed numerous acts tightening segregative restrictions; each time the federal courts had declared these acts un-Constitutional. Progress had been slow but progress did come. His most sincere prayer had been answered when the Supreme Court ordered the University of Georgia to abolish the long-established segregation procedures against Negroes. The university had grudgingly complied. Scott Barrows had been accepted at the university, breaking the color barrier for the first time. The Negro organization had kept its word and supplied Scott with the necessary funds. Upon his arrival at the university, Barrows was by far the happiest Negro in the South. Abruptly his happiness was shattered. University students, usually a very broad-minded group, rioted against the Negro's admittance. Progress was halted and re-directed—backwards this time. The university president, pressed by trustees, friends, professional trouble and the Southern papers, ordered the immediate suspension of the Negro "for his own safety." Sadly Scott left the university, vowing to return through the portals to education. But he can return only if that "someone" with the key can find it in his heart to turn the key one way and leave it. Only then can Scott and thousands of Negroes like him achieve a full life without fear of persecution for his color.

Do Rules Bother YOU?

Face it! Boarding schools are the natural habitat for all manner of confining and seemingly senseless rules and regulations. All of us have, in cases, resented them, especially at this time of year when June seems so far away. But let's remember that there is a reason for them all, and although you think you detect a fiendish gleam in his eye as he puts you on two days' campus, it may quite possibly be your imagination; the teachers don't enjoy punishments any more than we do.

Who hasn't heard the parental opinion, "I wish you could see my side; if, when you are older and you are placed in my position, I'm sure you'll see why I'm doing this—it's only for your own good." But why wait until then to accept rules with their reasons in mind. Let's try to do it now. It leads to happier surroundings and less friction all the way around

SENIORS TAKE ALL SKI EVENTS — CLINCH CARNIVAL

After putting in a hectic morning in school on Friday, March 3, the buses for checkers, competitors, and spectators left for Sunday River where they were to watch championship skiing at its peak!

Finally the fatal hour arrived and the nervous but anxious skiers were now ready. The girls took to the slopes first and the Seniors behind Ann Ordway's time of 37.7 and Hilda Andrews' time of 43.0 clinched first place in Class A. Using the same course for the boys in Class A Tom Hamilton, a sophomore, beat classmate Dave Amerin by two-tenths of a second, his time being 35.8.

Next came Class B, the first two places being taken by two Seniors, Mary Willard and Sue Hutchison with respective times of 55.5 and 58.5. Freshman Bob Swain took first in Class B with a winning time of 41.2 while Yvon Favreau placed second for the Seniors.

Thus the first stage of the Winter Carnival had been completed.

Members have been working with the theme "Home Economics—Your New Horizon" in the months of January and February. In learning about the various fields and stimulating interest in home economics, bulletin boards have been placed in the home economics classroom and the school library.

At a recent meeting, three local professionals in the homemaking field, Mrs. Estelle Goggin, Mrs. Clifford Hillier, and Mrs. Rachel MacKay, spoke to the girls on the way home economics had had a part in their work. Each interpreted to the members the importance of and satisfaction achieved from a home economics training in their careers as homemakers and professional workers.

The chapter is now in the process of tabulating the results of its pilot study conducted in town to discover who some of the people are who have had home economics training and the effects it has had on their lives.

Committees have been working on a program to be presented at the local Extension group and on an FHA handbook. The chapter has also recently revised its constitution.

JUNIORS CLINCH HOCKEY

After several delays because of inadequate ice and poor weather conditions Class Hockey finally got underway.

The first game of the series was played between the Juniors and Seniors, the Upperclassmen being defeated by Jeff Rutherford's goal in overtime. The second game saw the Freshmen tangle with the Sophomores, but it was no match as the Sophomores romped to a 9-0 win behind the play of Jay Langley and Tom Hamilton.

In the second round it was all the Seniors as they trounced the Freshmen 12-2, the winners being led by Alex Foster's four goals. The game between the Juniors and Sophomores was not played, the Juniors gaining victory on the strength of a forfeit.

JUNIORS VICTORS IN BASKETBALL

The conclusion of class basketball on March 2 brought to the high-spirited Juniors a first place in the interclass competition. The Juniors coached by Don Rice displayed some well-balanced scoring and a fine defense in eliminating all foes, their only loss coming on account of a forfeit to the Seniors. The Freshmen under the leadership of Scott Cummings placed second, followed by the Seniors who were led by Dick Ramage. The Sophomores, coached by Dick York, found the going a little rough, although they surprised the Seniors with a 35-34 upset.

In a close battle of points Dave Salway with 74 just managed to hold off Jim Weston who tallied 73. Third and fourth places were held down by two Freshmen, Dale Stevens and Larry Smith, each of them dumping in 55 markers between them.

Once again let's give thanks to the faculty members, the referees, the coaches, and to everyone who sacrificed valuable time in order that these class games could be made possible.

FRENCH CLUB

An interesting and educational addition to the dormitory dining room is the renewed tradition of a French table. French students sit together at one table for all meals but are only required to converse in French during the evening meal. Rumors are that Mr. Davis is taking a French dictionary to these meals!

Plans are being worked on by the members for the French Club party which is coming up before long.

CORONATION MARCH 3

"And the wind did blow, and the darkness was all 'round..." but there were whispers in the darkness, apprehensive voices: "Where is Cindy Kailey?" or "They'll never hear the music; the wind's too loud."—impatient voices: "Where are they—what's holding them up?"—excited voices: "Here they come—oh, I hope it's..."—and amusing voices: "Nope, it's Steve Parent for sure!"

But they came on—branding a pinpoint in the blackness with their torches—slowly, slowly came the blue sweated men carrying Gould's royalty to her throne.

The pulling, pushing wind grasps at the bundled-up specks on the bank staring down toward the little procession. "Now, see!" "I can almost tell—no, wait—it's—" and then everyone knows, and everyone is telling everyone else. Faces relax, and the darkness is no more, for a circle is being lit around her throne—the music moves her to the captain's arm and she receives her robe—her crown—our Winter Carnival Queen—Sally Burns. She is being kissed and hugged and a few tears fall... suddenly a lonely Senior realizes that it's over—he wants to put the record back on and begin once more... for the rest of time, only Gould coronations. But he can't go back—no one can. It is sad and happy; our mountains will sigh tonight....

After the coronation, the specks become people—hungry people—and all move toward the Gehring Hall dining room and ice cream, cake, and hot coffee, a congratulatory throng forming around the Queen and her attendants—Freda Gammon, Ann Ordway, Donna Rice, and Louise Lincoln.

Following the final—"Whew, I ate too much!", a dance begins in the Holden Hall cellar.

But then, that is all; doors are closed at Farnsworth, Gehring, and Holden, the last car has driven away, blinking into the road, and the throne stands unnoticed and silent—signifying the wait for next year's honored queen....

The freshman says, "I beg your pardon."

The sophomore says, "Will you repeat that please?"

The junior says, "What did you say?"

Senior says, "Huh?"

The Sentinel

DISNEYLAND RAMPANT

Only seventeen more days to spring on the morning of the Ball—and it showed—snow sculptors were gently thudding to the ground, as the judges, Mrs. Gibbs, Mr. Emery, and Mr. Jacobs, moved among them. "What did you say this was?"... after much debating, however, a decision as the winner was heached, and though rumor proclaimed the triumph of the Seniors, (a few ambitious members of the class had risen at 6:30 Saturday morning!) official announcements proved it false, and the Sophs' "Monstro" took a deserving first place, followed by the Seniors' "Disney Comic Book," the Froshs' "Goofy Goofs," and the Juniors' "Hiawatha"—or to one observer—"Disneyland before Disney got to it."

Considering the crusty, unmeltable snow, and the unexpected drizzle, all the sculptors were excellent—or, at the very least, interesting....

Corsages were presented, hands interlocked, dresses admired, musicians were settled, and the 1961 Winter Carnival Ball had suddenly arrived. As the spotlight balanced on the door of the Bingham gym, Queen Sally Burns and her escort, Elmer Beal, from Bar Harbor, Maine, entered the gold and white, Cinderella slipped Disneyland. While she took her regal seat, the band—"Best we've ever had"—struck up a waltz, and dancers' rustle of net and satin was heard all around the castle in the clouds—in the middle of the floor.

The gym didn't look like a gym—it looked lovely—but by 11:40, the doors were closed again, and the darkened gym was left with only its shadowy memories of a most wonderful Carnival Ball....

STUDENT COUNCIL

The big thing in Student Council at this time is the Western Maine Regional Student Council convention to be held here sometime in April. Representatives from other schools and Gould will meet and elect regional officers.

The Council has also been meeting every two weeks as usual and has taken up suggestions made by the students. They also have put these suggestions before the administration.

JAY LANGLEY WINS GIANT SLALOM

Once again the annual Gould Academy Winter Carnival arrived, and with it many leading skiers from Gould, Auburn, Rumford, Bridgton, Westbrook, Bath, Farmington, Lyndon, Vermont; Berlin and Conway, New Hampshire; and Amesbury, Massachusetts.

With ideal snow conditions and an enthusiastic crowd at Sunday River Skiway for the slalom races, Gould's Jay Langley, a member of the Junior National Alpine Team, zoomed down over the course in a time of 43.6, eight-tenths of a second ahead of runnerup Brian Beattie of Lyndonville, Vermont. Tom Upham of Edward Little finished third, while Gould was represented by Bill Call, fourth, and Jim Corriveau, fifth.

In the afternoon the meet was transferred to Swan's Corner, where the jumping events took place. Placing first was Eric Johnson of Berlin, New Hampshire with a point total of 149.7. In second spot was Tom Upham, while Steve Saunders and Steve Parent finished third and fourth, respectively.

Thus another Gould Winter Carnival reached its climax, which, as usual proved to be a fine success, with thanks due those who in any way gave their time and efforts.

BOYS TRIP GIRLS

On the evening of March 4 the Boys' Varsity squad and the Girls' Peg team met in the field house for a basketball game in an attempt to start the evening activities of the Winter Carnival on the right foot.

Playing under the handicap of one boxing glove and a pair of sun glasses Joe Hillier's six were able to slip by the Seniors, 34 to 6. Coached by Louise Kennedy the girls played fine ball but were an uneven match for the boys who displayed balanced scoring.

The game was fun from both the player and spectator point of view and from all reports the game was enjoyed by everyone—even the defeated girls.

Dorm Party

Although the night was bitterly cold, promptly at six o'clock a record breaking crowd began gathering for the annual Girls' Dorm Party. Following the United Nations theme, exotic food from the far corners of the world was served—Swedish Meatballs, Italian bread, chicken tetrazenni, rice, tossed salad, rolls, apple pie a la mode. After the inspection of the spanking clean rooms, where each boy competed to find the most dust, all assembled in the dining room for the skits. Interrupting the master of ceremonies, dorm president Betty King, Claire Marx, Debbie Appleton, and Sue Hutchison started off the program with zeal, impersonating three lost musicians, at the wrong dorm party no less. They returned later to sing a rousing version of Calendar Girl complete with a girl representing each month—January, Liz Arata—February, Marge Dallinger;—March, Carol Bilderback;—April, Madge Ward—May, Carol Wilson—June, Peg Davis—July, Louise Kennedy—August, Hilda Andrews—September, Debbie Hammond—October, Jane Ashcraft—November—Sandy Shipp—December—Gloria Williams. A very beat version of Snow White was second of the agenda. Betty King narrated the way-out tale with the cast of characters as follows: Snow White, Shirley Hendrick—mother, Joan Austin—Mirror, Jane Ashcraft—Prince Charming, and he sure was, Martha Gayton—Sleepy Calef, Joey Runyon—Doc Parent, Martha Macquin—Dopey Riley, Sharon Cole—Grumpy Merriam, Abby Hartwell—Bashful Scattergood, Patty Eames—Sneezy Hill, Linette Gushee—Happy Blunt, Wendy Tyson. The last skit followed the theme and was a wild U. N. session. The outstanding leaders were nobly portrayed by the roughest group of "diplomats" ever assembled. Freda Gammon, complete with a live chicken, girl friend (Peg Davis) gun, and beard, played Castro. Sally Burns was a shoe pounding Nikita Call and Debbie Appleton was a true drawling Alex Lumumba. Completing the cast, Ann Tribou played France, Jane Ashcraft—Italy, Pam Perkins—Dag Hamilton, and Ann Ordway—Stevenson. After the laughter finally quieted down the evening quickly vanished as the couples danced the remaining time away. When ten o'clock rolled around and the party officially ended, everyone had to admit that this year's dorm party was the best yet!

BRIDGTON SLIPS BY GOULD

In a free-scoring and fast-moving game at Bridgton on December 15, the Gould Academy Huskies lost a thriller by the score of 63 to 58.

Early in the game the visitors moved out in front by as much as six or seven points, but quick baskets by Ken Whitney and John Rowe put the hosts back out in front. The lead changed hands several times and it was not until the last three minutes that the game was decided. Bridgton was outshot, 26-24, from the floor, but their 15 to 6 margin from the free throw line proved to be decisive. Whitney (25) and John Rowe (18) paced the winners, while the Huskies countered with John Kelley (20), Dick York (11), and both Paul Hamilton and Scott Cummings scored in double digits.

Gould captured the preliminary game, 33-24, for an even attack.

On January 6 the Huskies traveled to Mexico where they lost a Western Maine Conference game to Mexico High paced by Ron Kenoyer who scored 23 points, taking the game scoring honors.

The Huskies just couldn't seem to get going and were led all the way and finally beat 55-36.

Alex Foster was the lone double-digit scorer for Gould with 13 tallies.

The Mexico jaycees made it a clean sweep with an exciting overtime game ending 32-29.

LYNDONVILLE EDGES GOULD

On January 20 and 21, a strong Lyndonville, Vermont, ski team squeezed out a hard fought victory over the Gould Academy Huskies by the slim margin of two and one-half points.

Lyndonville got off to a good start Friday afternoon by defeating the exam weary Gould cross country skiers on their home course. The only two Gould runners who figured in the scoring were Fred Lincoln and Steve Saunders. Lincoln was second and Saunders finished in third place. The race was run over three inches of fresh powder in below freezing weather.

On Saturday the two teams traveled the short distance to the Sunday River Skiway where the alpine events were to be run, beginning with a fast giant slalom course. The Huskies won this event on the strength of Steve Parent's first place in the time of 44.7 seconds and Captain Bill Call's third place.

Next came the slalom event which proved to be the Huskies downfall. Gould

HUSKIES LOSE

The Norway Rams led at the end of every period to defeat the home team 54-36 on Tuesday, January 10. The hot handed Norway club was just too much for a cold but game Gould contingent.

Except for a fine 14 point performance by Paul "Topper" Hamilton, cashing in on 7 out of 15 shots from the floor, the Huskies as a team could not hit with any degree of consistency. The Gould squad seemed to find themselves late in the third quarter but Norway countered with some good shooting of its own to offset this surge in which Hamilton collected three straight hoops for the Huskies. Norway was outpointed in the final frame 10-9 as Dick Ramage scored six of his ten points in an attempt to close the gap. Ramage collected on 5 out of 15 from the floor for a 33 per cent average for the night.

Both teams got off to a rather slow start, the first quarter ending with Norway in front 8-4. In the second period Gould dumped in 8 markers to 21 for a sizzling hot Norway squad, the half ending 29-12. In the third period Gould was again outpointed 16-14 to salt away the victory for the visitors.

In the jumping, which was held at Swan's Corner, the Huskies picked up two and one half points but it was not enough to make up the deficit. Pete Davis of Gould won the event with 132.3 points while Steve Parent and Steve Saunders nailed down second and fourth positions in that order.

In the J. V. meet, Edward Little was first, followed by Lyndonville and Gould in that order.

DEBATING CLUB

At a recent meeting the members held a lively and invigorating debate entitled "Should officers of a class or an organization serve for more than one consecutive year?"

OUTING CLUB

As we take a peek at the Outing Club members, we find them knee-deep in projects and plans as usual. Now that the annual Winter Carnival is over, the organization has turned its thoughts to the future. But before remarking on this, it seems that some of the people who played such a big part in making the Carnival a success deserve recognition. Heads of committees for coronation, ticket-selling, food, ski competition, communications, awards, posters, and publicity were Gary Hill, Nancy Cole, Sharon Cole, Sally Burns, Les Scattergood, Steve Saunders, Glen Whitehouse, John Kelly, Anne Ordway, and Marcia Savage. Many others too were involved in making this event a success, and the Outing Club was responsible for a great part of it. The organization certainly deserves credit for such a successful Winter Carnival.

At the New England Boys' Ski Meet, held this year at Sunday River, the Outing Club did most of the decorating and also some at Swan's Corner. They also took care of the closing ceremony and sold refreshments at the jump on Saturday afternoon Feb. 18.

As we look to the future, the Outing Club is planning to sponsor a contest for naming the different trails at the log cabin in Sherwood Forest. According to Mr. Brewster. They also hope to have a few cookouts there later in the spring.

Something of interest to many of us is the proposed overnight ski trip to Sugarloaf Mountain. This is just a tentative plan, but it all goes well, the trip will be some time in early April.

The Outing Club seems to have been keeping really busy and accomplishing a lot. They have also kept the Gould Skating Rink in excellent condition. Keep up the good work!

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The basketball season terminates with peg games each year. After each class had chosen its twelve best players, the games commenced and it became evident that the contest was between the juniors and seniors. The first meeting of the two found the seniors winning by a slight margin. Prior to the second game the seniors were determined to win and end the series, but the juniors were as determined to win. The game found both teams playing and scoring evenly. However, the juniors showed that they have what it takes by pulling ahead in the last quarter and winning the game. The following night the two teams met to break the tie. With both teams fighting, the game proved well-played and interesting. As the final whistle blew, the seniors had the edge 27-21 and won the game, the peg, and a first in the carnival.

In preparation of the Debating Tourney to be held in Portland in the spring, time has been spent on the importance and organization of the opening speeches in a debate.

Gould Skiers Display Fine Form

GIRLS' SKI TEAM

This year's ski team is composed of a number of last year's participants and many new members. After many weeks of work, before and after the snow, the enthusiastic team declared itself ready for competitors Bridgton.

The site of the first meet, among three teams, was Bridgton, January 27, 1961. The competition proved to be stronger than Gould could handle. We secured fourth, A. Ordway, and ninth, K. Towne, in the slalom. Giant Slalom gave Gould second, A. Ordway, and ninth, J. Saunders. Gould finished third, 139.4, behind Edward Little, 176.3, and Stephens, 161.2.

The second meet, at Farmington, found Gould with a more determined and much improved team. Ann Ordway captured second and Nancy Cole placed ninth. However, the improvement wasn't enough for Gould placed second.

Sunday River

Gould was host to four schools for the third meet. At Sunday River the Gould girls were joined by skiers from Edward Little, Farmington, Stephens and Wayne. Ann Ordway placed second in both events, followed by Nancy Cole, ninth in giant Slalom and seventh in slalom. Gould finished third in a field of five.

The season finished with the State Meet. Giant slalom proved to be our downfall, Gould's Ann Ordway securing 11th place. Slalom was better as we captured second, Ann Ordway, Twentieth, Kathy Towne, and Twenty-first, C. Bilderback. The final score found us in fifth place and Farmington the Maine State Girls' Ski Champions.

EDWARD LITTLE DOWNS GOULD

A five point lead in cross country, plus the slim lead after Friday's Alpine events, seemed to be the deciding factor in the Edward Little Carnival when the Eddies downed the Huskies on Jan. 29.

ELHS ace Tommy Upham again proved his ability as a four eventer by taking second place in all four events; thus, he became the skimeister. Bruce Haskell of the Eddies, runner-up in the skimeister competition, won the chilly langlauf in the morning and Gould's Pete Davis snatched the jumping competition in the afternoon. Steve Parent tallied 365.06 in the skimeister competition for third place.

The jumping was particularly close between Pete Davis and Tom Upham of ELHS. Davis pulled through for GA by only .7 of a point. Steve Saunders of the Huskies looked good and came through with a third place win. The Husky team did very well in spite of the extreme cold. Good work, boys! The final score was: Edward Little, 381.72; Gould, 375.63; Farmington, 345.26; Kennett, 330.90; Rumford, 280.26.

McFALLS TIPS GOULD

Paul Hamilton with 15 and John Kelly with 9 were the top scorers for the losing cause. The Gould jayvees easily won over the Mechanic Falls subs, 47-36. Mechanic Falls (61) Morrell 1, French 3, Stimmen, R. Bryant 9 (1), L. Bryant 8 (1), Marchand (2), Baird 2 (1), Ashley, Lenahan 8 (4).

SKIERS CAPTURE STATE CROWN

On Friday, February 10, 1961, the Gould Huskies picked up a six point lead in the first two events of the Maine Interscholastic Ski Championships at Fryeburg. At the end of the day's events, Gould led its nearest opponent Edward Little 190.68 to 183.93, followed by Farmington, M. C. I., Rumford, Mexico, Bridgton, and Madawaska.

In the giant slalom Gould won the event by about seven points by getting four in the top six places after Tom Upham and Bruce Haskell of Edward Little had captured first and second respectively. Parent was third, Langley fourth, Call fifth, and Coriveau tied for sixth. In the cross-country Fred Lincoln became State Champ by running the 3 1/2 mile course in 33.29. Steve Saunders was fifth, Hutchins, sixteenth, Parent seventeenth, and Langley twenty-second. Gould won their weakest event by .09 of a point.

On Saturday morning the slalom was held. Jay Langley became our second State Champ by winning the slalom with a total of 86.0. Steve Parent was second with 89.8, Call was sixth, and Saunders was twelfth.

As the last event rolled around, the Huskies had a comfortable 10 point lead. In the jumping, Dick Read of Edward Little edged out Pete Davis of Gould by less than two points to win the state jumping crown. He was followed by Parent, Hutchins, and Saunders who took sixth, eighth, and fifteenth respectively. Gould lost this event by about four points, but it made little difference in the final score which showed the Huskies to be State Champs for the second year in a row and added another trophy to Gould's trophy case. McFALLS BEATS GOULD BY 57-34

On Friday, January 27, the Gould team met Mechanic Falls at the Norway Armory in a Western Maine Conference game. Mechanic Falls played a strong game throughout the four eight-minute quarters to win 57-34.

Charlie Lenahan was the hoopster of the night, dunking 32 points for the McFalls squad. Paul "Topper" Hamilton was the only one on the Gould squad to reach the two digit figure with 13 points.

The close preliminary jayvee game was taken by Mechanic Falls, 35-33.

HUSKIES SLAM FRYEBURG AND ST. PAT'S

On Saturday, February 4, Gould traveled to Fryeburg where they scored their first Western Maine Conference victory of the season by defeating Fryeburg Academy, 45-36.

Although Fryeburg outscored the visitors from the floor, 17 to 16, they were unable to connect from the free throw line as they went two for eight, while Gould hit 13 out of 32.

Throughout the entire game the Huskies were able to control the backboards, thus setting the pace in all four quarters. The first two quarters were very deliberate, but in the second half the attack was speeded up, this baffling the home squad as they committed 21 of their 25 fouls in the last two periods. In the meantime Gould was charged with only six personals.

The two clubs were tied, 9-9, at the close of the first quarter and at halftime Gould led, 16-15. Going into the final period the invaders led, 37-24, but Fryeburg came roaring back and with 1:04 to play the score stood at 41-36. However the visitors stalled the rest of the way to wrap up the victory.

Alex Foster with 12 points, Scott Cummings and John Kelley, with 10 apiece, paced the Huskies' attack, while Ray Austin and Buzzy Crandall managed 25 points between them.

In a close prelim Fryeburg slipped by Gould, 37-32.

Scott Cummings and Dick Ramage were the other top point producers, each of them scoring seven.

High man for the visitors was Mike Gouthreau with twelve, followed closely by Don Eastman who hit for eleven.

In the prelim the home squad romped over the Pats to the tune of 55-15, this making their record 4-6.

GOULD DEFEATS KENNETT

On February 4 and 5, the Gould ski team traveled to Cranmore Mountain, North Conway, New Hampshire, for a three way meet with Kennett of North Conway and Hanover in which the Gold and Blue proved victorious.

On Friday afternoon, the Alpine events were held on the sunny slopes of the Alberg and North Conway trails, both in excellent condition. Jay Langley made it a clean sweep by winning both the Slalom and Giant Slalom. Steve Parent was close behind with 2nd and 3rd respectively. Rick Wyman was 4th, followed by Call and Corriveau, in the slalom event.

GOULD NEW ENGLAND SKI CHAMPIONS

Gould Academy's ski team, state schoolboy champions, won the New England ski title with some outstanding performances in the final day of the two day meet.

The Huskies trailed Edward Little of Auburn after the giant slalom and cross country events had been concluded on Friday, but the home team bounced back with some clutch performances in the slalom and jumping to clinch Gould's first New England victory since 1948.

Lyndon Institute of Lyndonville, Vermont, the defending champion and Vermont state champ, was runnerup finishing more than seven points behind the winner.

On Friday, Gould copped the giant slalom event on the strength of Steve Parent's victory over the thirty gate, three-quarter mile course and Jay Langley's second place, furnishing a hard to beat 1-2 punch. Jim Corriveau tied for seventh and Rick Wyman finished ninth to help pile up the points for Gould.

Edward Little's strong cross country team offset the giant slalom win as Bruce Haskell placed first and Tom Upham finished second. Both are from Edward Little. Fred Lincoln of Bethel was Gould's top man in this event. Lincoln, who won the state cross country championship race, finished fifth out of forty-eight competitors. Steve Saunders placed thirteenth on the three mile course.

GOULD WINS FIRST SKI MEET

On January 8, the Gould Ski Team traveled to Holderness School in Plymouth, New Hampshire, for their first ski competition of the season. Also entered in the meet were Kimball Union Academy, New England Prep School Champions in 1960, Andover and Hebron, all prep schools.

The meet was a one day affair, with all four events run off the same day. After the results had been given out, a re-check of the score was made and Gould was declared the winner by four tenths of a point.

In the slalom Gould won the event by nearly six points. Steve Parent was third and Bill Call was fourth, followed by Mendall, Wyman, and Corriveau, 12th, 13th, and 14th, respectively.

The Giant Slalom was won by K. U. A., Gould having a rough time and ending up 4th. Steven Parent was 3rd again, Bill Call 9th, and Pete Mendall 14th.

Next the jumping event was held and Gould made an excellent showing by having Parent, Hutchins, and Davis all tied for 2nd place. Saunders, Remington and Lincoln finished 11th, 12th and 14th.

The cross-country was a mass start, and by the time it got under way, it was nearly dark. The race was finished in the dark, and Gould placed 3rd. Fred Lincoln was 4th, and Saunders was 6th.

Gould	372.67
KUA	372.23
Holderness	368.74
Andover	336.28

On Saturday morning Gould showed why they had won the state of Maine championship by storming back into the lead with a second place in the slalom on the strength of another 1-2 finish, this time by Jay Langley placing first and Parent second. Captain Bill Call finished sixth to aid in the Huskies point building. Jim Corriveau, Rick Wyman, and Steve Saunders finished in that order for Gould, all completing two standing runs.

Gould's Pete Davis turned in the longest jump of the day by leaping 116 feet off the forty meter jump only to finish third to Bob Stone, Hanover and Eric Johnson, an individual jumping ace from Berlin, New Hampshire. Steve Parent was seventh and Fred Lincoln placed tenth.

Parent rounded out the big week end for the Gould squad by winning the skimeister award with 374.46 points as he won the giant slalom, finished second in the slalom, seventh in the jumping, and thirty-fourth in the cross-country. Auburn's Tom Upham and Lyndon's Brian Beattie finished second and third respectively in the skimeister running for four-event competitors.
